SEA UNIONS FIGHT BENSON PAY CUT PLAN

Take Uncompromising Attitude in Conference At Washington To Avert Strike Called in U. S. For May 1

Argument of Benson Is For Compromise Based Upon Increasing Value of Dollar And Lower Cost of Living

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The proposal of Chairman Benson of the shipping board that negotiations to settle difficulties between the shipowners and marine workers be taken up on the basis of a wage reduction of 15 per cent for marine workers was formally rejected this afternoon by the marine engineers' association after a conference called to avert a tie-up of shipping threatened by a strike of seamen on May 1.

William Brown, head of the engineers' organization, stated that his union would be willing to negotiate the question of a wage reduction but would not accept a wage reduction. He indicated, however, that his organization would be willing to consider the matter further.

After stating that the shipping board would insist upon its proposal for a wage reduction, Admiral Benson refused to permit the conference to break up, when both marine workers and ship owners announced that there was no longer a need for negotiations.

Admiral Benson announced that the conference would be continued on Friday.

Both parties to the controversy are expected to hold sessions here tomorrow.

Benson also declared for the open shop on American vessels, continuation of the seas service bureau which the men want eliminated and for the strict observance of the La Follette seamen's act, which the shipping owners and unions should be given a liberal interpretation.

WAGES WERE RAISED

MEET PRICES

Benson explained that wages of seamen had been raised during the war to meet high prices.

Speaking of demands for preference for union men on American vessels, Benson said:

"The Shipping Board, as a government institution, must stand for that quality in its relations to the government which is guaranteed to every citizen by the constitution of the United States."

Following the statement by Benson, Andrew Furhman, head of the seamen's union, and E. B. Griffin, head of the stewards' and cooks' union, spoke. Griffin threatened the ship owners if wages are reduced.

"If my wages are reduced 15 per cent, I will make it my business to see that the owners lose that 15 per cent and more," said Griffin, adding that if other members of his union did not know how to bring this about he would instruct them.

Furhman declared that the reduction, instead of 15 per cent, would be approximately 10 per cent because of the abolition of overtime.

OWNERS WOULD ACCEPT BENSON COMPROMISE

William A. Thompson of the Texas Steamship Company, speaking in behalf of the ship owners, indicated that a 15 per cent reduction in wages would be acceptable, but he said the owners could not at present treat with the men as they were out of court.

Charges that American steamship owners were in collusion with British ship owners to effect a reduction of wages in both countries was made by Brown of the engineers and denied by Thompson.

COAST PREPARING FOR SHIPPING TIE-UP

SACRAMENTO, April 27.—With regard to the threatened shipping strike, seaman and ship owners of the Pacific Coast were today reported as trimming sails for a storm and at the same time predicting fair weather.

The seamen have threatened to strike on May 1 if the ship owners attempt to place in effect proposed wage reductions. They profess a belief, however, that wages will not be cut.

The ship owners declare that if the men strike they will be compelled to operate at least enough vessels to handle traffic by hiring new crews.

The shipping board will continue to operate its vessels on this coast regardless of the action of the men, according to H. H. Ebey, district manager of operations.

J. P. Williams, of the Pacific America S. S. Association, predicted that the number of ships in operation will be reduced in the event of a strike.

Wages now paid on the coast range from $330 to $415 for captains and $205 to $357 for chief engineers, $165 to $265 for ordinary seamen and $50 for cabin boys. Able seamen get $25, firemen $26, and water tenders $25. In some instances, slightly more is paid.

State Officials Open Drive on Beauty Doctors

Women hereafter will wear their wrinkles.

Whether they like the shape of their nose or not they will accept the adornment which Dame Nature bestowed. If the contour of their lips brings distress, they still will be distressed. If their eyes are small, small they will remain. If their ears protrude, protrude they must unless bands of hair can be flirited into place.

These contingencies are threatened in a campaign begun by Dr.

P. O'Brien, State Commissioner of Health.

Charles E. Pinkham, secretary of the state board of medical examiners, against the "Beauty Doctors," whose ways, he says, "destroy rather than add to feminine charm."

A clean-sweep of the "beautifiers" from California is promised. The drive was begun yesterday with the arrest of Mrs. Harriet Gunn, with offices in the Whitney building, San Francisco. Operators of the state board are working in Oakland, Berkeley, Los Angeles and other cities where disreputable cosmetic transformations of the ugly duckling into the Venus of Milo are being carried on.

Admiral Benson announced that the conference would be continued on Friday.

Benson also declared for the open shop on American vessels, continuation of the seas service bureau which the men want eliminated and for the strict observance of the La Follette seamen's act, which the shipping owners and unions should be given a liberal interpretation.

WOMAN ASKS FOR SHARE IN FAIR ESTATE

Last Minute Contest Is Begun By Mary J. Lundy of Alameda, Who Claims Thirty-sixth of $22,000,000 Left

Claimant Says She and Her Sister, Eliza Ann Fair, Were Nieces of California Multi-Millionaire; Hearing Set

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—A sensational last minute contest in the estate of the late James G. Fair, valued at $22,000,000, was revealed today in a petition filed with the superior court by Mary J. Lundy, 61 years old, of 1821 Clinton avenue, Alameda, who is seeking a one thirty-sixth interest in the property. The affairs of the late millionaire had almost been wound up when, at the eleventh hour today, Mrs. Lundy, through her counsel, Rufus Kimball, asked the court for special letters of administration in the estate of her sister, Eliza Ann Fair, who, she says, was a niece of James G. Fair.

Why Eliza Fair did not bring a contest for her alleged share of the Fair millions during her lifetime is left unexplained as is also the reason for the silence of Mrs. Lundy, who is also a niece and who would seem to be equally entitled to a share in the vast properties.

MEMPHIS, April 27.—Albert Perry, 19 years old, of 1828 East Sixteenth street, is under care of physicians at the Emergency Hospital today, and is in a precarious condition from a bullet wound in the stomach received last night at the hands of Piedmont policemen.

Franklin Rheiner, 23 years old, of 1417 East Nineteenth street, his companion, is in the the Oakland city jail. Both young men are under arrest on accusations of the Piedmont police who say that they were stripping a stolen automobile of its accessories on the outskirts of Piedmont.

According to Chief of Police B. F. Becker he and Detective Sergeant F. W. Herre and Traffic Officer William Eagle were motoring along the outskirts of Piedmont when they observed two boys acting suspiciously near an automobile in a vacant lot.

Becker said he turned the spotlight on the boys and they started to run.

LAD FINALLY SHOT TO CHECK FLIGHT

"After pursuing them for two blocks during which time we were firing in the air over their heads, I told the men with me that it looked as though they would escape if we didn't pull down on them. After that I pulled them into shots on their heads, but they failed to stop. Then we all pulled down on them when we saw that they were about to escape. I don't know who hit Perry."

The wounded lad was taken to the Receiving hospital in Oakland following the shooting, and his companion turned over to the Oakland police for investigation. The place of arrest was just over the Piedmont city line in Oakland.

The car was found to be the property of W. W. Raleigh of 734 Fortieth street and was taken about 9 o'clock last night from in front of St. Mary's College.

ADMITS AUTO THEFT; SHIELDS COMPANION

Perry, at the hospital today, admitted that he had taken the car but refused to shield Rheiner, his companion.

"They shot me while I was standing perfectly still," declared the confessed boy automobile thief. "Frank kept going, but when I heard them shoot I stopped and threw up my hands. Then I heard a shot and thought they were shooting at Frank. Suddenly something hit me like a sledge hammer and I grabbed at myself and it all went numb. I said 'I'm hit,' but they grabbed me and said 'Cut out the faking,' and dragged me and threw me into the auto like I was a bundle of rags."

Mrs. Perry, the boy's mother, was prostrated with grief as she sat by Perry's side and declared that her son had never been in trouble before.

CHIEF SAYS PERRY KEPT ON RUNNING

Chief of Police Becker said that Perry did not stop, but kept on running. According to physicians at the hospital the bullet entered the lad's back.

"It is unfortunate that we had to shoot him," said Becker. "He was running away from us and we had no way of knowing if he was a high school youth or an ex-con.

"When we got him I didn't even know that he had been hit, and in fact I thought he was faking, but when he got into the machine I knew that he was hit and rushed him to the hospital."

George Lewis, the boy's mother, was prostrated with grief as she sat by Perry's side and declared that her son had never been in trouble before.

Lefty Lewis, Convicted Murderer and Jail Escape, Is Arrested in Detroit.

George Lewis, said to be a member of the gang that accompanied C. C. Brown, when he shot Sam Minnoch, cook in a Market street restaurant last October, was arrested today in Detroit. He was known as "Lefty" Lewis and escaped from jail in San Francisco after being convicted of murder. Frank Alderson, another member of the gang, escaped from San Francisco. Charles Baender, known as the "master crook," was reported another member. In a battle with the police Brown was shot and died later from his wounds.

With the arrest of Lewis, the Detroit police believe they have in custody the man responsible for a $1,000,000 post office robbery at Toledo, Ohio, and a man named Paul Shaffer, who was the only prisoner ever to escape from the new branch in San Francisco. They made a rope from mop strings and watching their chance succeeded in getting out of a window by prying away a bar.

They were seen as they dashed, suspended over the street, but it was not until after they had reached the ground that they were captured.

Officials here were active this morning regarding the German proposal, but in political circles close to the Pramer there was a belief that the Ruhr district of Germany would be occupied immediately after May 1.

Germany's proposals are entirely insufficient, it is declared in authoritative circles, being at least 100,000,000,000 marks below the terms of the armistice, which will be paid before the end of January.

The demands decided upon at that time have been considered as a minimum, amounting to approximately 226,000,000,000 marks.

In discussing the German terms, it is said in well-informed circles that in offering an installment of one billion gold marks, Germany made no mention of the 12,000,000,000 marks held by the allies to be paid before May 1. Germany also offered to abandon the railroads.

Assertion is made that should Germany be exonerated of all other reparations obligations she would be given an advantage greater than would accrue to the allies from her future payments.

An Innovation in Eyeglass Comfort

Anyone having weak or sensitive eyes will find great relief in having their lenses ground in Crookes glass, which is scientifically prepared to absorb the ultra violet rays, so annoying to the delicate membrane of the eye.

For people who have very weak eyes or are exposed to strong light of any kind the dark shade of Crookes glass will bring immediate relief, while the light shade, which is scarcely perceptible, can be worn in the same manner as ordinary white lenses. Let any Chinn-Beretta store explain the truly remarkable benefits of Crookes glass.

CHICAGO, April 27.—Jeanette Hoy, daughter of a contractor, today fired two bullets into the body of Catherine Davis and then turned the gun on herself.

The tragedy was the result of a quarrel between the girls, who have been close friends for several years. Physicians said that both were near death.

Miss Davis, a bookkeeper, had just left a train on her way to work. Miss Hoy, holding behind a post, drew a revolver from her handbag and fired. The bullet entered Miss Davis' side.

The girl with the pistol rushed down the stairs to the street. In the rear of a building in which Miss Davis worked, Miss Hoy fired three shots into her own body.

Police say Miss Davis received a slight wound. Miss Hoy recently, according to police, had been shot in the shoulder.

The letter, in part, said:

"I love you very much and I am so sorry that we had a quarrel. I do not understand why you will no longer see me."

"You probably don't understand how a girl could love another girl as I do you."

U. S. UNDECIDED ON FUTURE ACTION.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The United States is undecided as to whether the German reparations proposals, made in a note to this government, will be transmitted to the allies, it was stated officially today.

It was added that they have not been transmitted.

From the same source it was learned that this government has not been notified as to whether or not the proposals are distasteful to the allies.

He pointed out that newspapers must meet the problems in material and labor since the average contract price of news print for the first six months of this year is higher than the average contract price for all last year and labor is at the highest point known.

While the outlook in the news print market may be regarded as improving from the publishers' viewpoint, he said, it has been pointed out that the market may become demoralized to such an extent that later in the year the publishers will be tempted to make seductive in subscriptions or advertising rates and throw down the bars to all the old time wasteful practices and bad business methods.

His suggestions for extending the usefulness of the association include the appointment of a newspaper editor, an engineer, a mechanical official, and a legislative expert to supervise legislation affecting newspapers.

R. R. EFFICIENCY WILL CUT COSTS, SAYS ECONOMIST

Organized Labor Expert Outlines Plan Before the Federal Board.

By ROBERT H. THORNBUSH,

United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, April 27.—Details of how organized labor believes railroads of the United States can save over one billion dollars in expenditures annually, were described by W. Jett Lauck, American Federation of Labor economist, today in a statement to the United States railroad board.

Lauck appeared as a witness for railroad unions in their fight to prevent reduction of wages asked by the railroads.

"High efficiency in railroad administration will be obtained through a national unified control or a regional control, which will utilize all existing facilities, regardless of competing claims," Lauck said.

He quoted former director general William G. McAdoo to show that "there is no question but great economies are possible under unified management in the direction of a comprehensive national plan for transporting products with minimum effort in the shortest line from point to point."

REMEDIES SUGGESTED.

Lauck suggested pooling of repair shops, elimination of circuitous rail routes, unification of terminals, consolidation of ticket offices, uniform mileage tickets, standardization of equipment, maintenance of uniform freight classification, maintenance of common time tables between important points, high demurrage rates and utilization of water routes for relief of crowded rail lines.

Pooling of locomotives and cars was recommended to meet traffic congestion. He said this would be impossible under private control.

Lauck also suggested that railroads adopt economy devices, to standardize locomotives, over-development of motive power in respect to other facilities, inefficient freight handling at terminals, labor turnover waste, preventable loss and damage, poor accounting and other alleged extravagances cost the railroads $963,500,000 annually.

RESEND THE TIMES.

"Engineering terminals and stops are from ten to thirty years behind the times, rendering them about 80 per cent inefficient," the witness charged.

"The permanent way of railroads—classification yards, roadbeds, passing sidings, coaling and water facilities, bridges, signal equipment and communication—has been so neglected as to be another source of waste and inefficiency."

Bridge, it was declared, are in many instances too light to permit the hauling of maximum load trains.

Installation of permanent bridges while calling for a big outlay in cash, would net millions in savings to railroads each year, Lauck said.

Lack of proper signal systems means slow handling of trains, according to Lauck. He characterized the system of loading and transportation of freight and baggage as

"primitive."

"Freight cars moved an average of 26.1 miles a day in 1917, in comparison to 24.9 miles in 1920," Lauck said. "An increase of two tons in the car load carried, was noted in the same period. There was an increase of 6.5 per cent in 1917, to 7

tons in 1920, of the number of un-

MOTOR VEHICLE BILL OF LEE DIES IN COMMITTEE

Agreement Reached To Take Up Morris Measure;
Charges Hurled.

SACRAMENTO. April 27.—The state committee on motor vehicles last night killed the Lee motor vehicle act, which had passed the assembly, by taking it by a vote of 9 to 2. The committee agreed to take up another bill by Morris, which contained some of the amendments to the present law that were believed by members to be most essential.

The committee went into executive session shortly after midnight to consider amendments offered by Chairman Darlington of the state highway commission.

AMENDMENT PROPOSED

One amendment proposes to change the present horse power basis to also include the weight of cars in computing the annual license fee. For pleasure automobiles weighing less than four thousand pounds the fee increase amounts to $2; those from four thousand to six thousand pounds, an increase of $4.

The maximum gross weight of auto trucks is placed at 25,000 pounds.

These provisions will return the state approximately $6,000,000 a year Darlington said, to be divided equally between the state and counties, the state highway department to use its portion for maintaining and widening of the present highways under a limited program.

About 25 county supervisors unanimously endorsed the plan proposed by the state highway commission.

CHARGE CAUSES FLURRY

A flurry occurred among members of the committee just prior to going into executive session when David Farries, attorney for the Automobile Club of Southern California, protested in the name of the club membership against any increase in fees whatsoever.

Farries made the charge that the automobile club believed "money heretofore had been squandered."

Senator Ridlon asked, "Who do you mean has squandered the money?"

Farries replied, "The gentlemen who have charge of construction of the state highways."

SEVEN OF STATE REORGANIZATION BILLS GO THROUGH

Assembly Passes Measures of Administration Without Amendment.

SACRAMENTO, April 27.—The plans for reorganization and consolidation in state government prepared by the administration took a long step toward completion yesterday when the assembly passed without amendment seven of the eight principal bills, already passed by the senate. The general enabling law was included, and the others were bills creating the civil service commission and creating the commission of finance, labor and industrial relations, education, public works and institutions. The bill relating to the department of agriculture was continued as a special order for today at 2 o'clock on motion of John Robert White, who had charge of the bills on the assembly floor. White said some amendments were in preparation and he desired them authors to have ample time to present them.

FIGHT AGAINST BILLS

The fight against the bills centered on the civil service bill because that happened to be first on the list. C. W. Greene of San Luis Obispo opposed it, and had some support, but after a delay of perhaps an hour the measure was passed by a vote of 48 to 24 to 20. The only other extended fight centered on the bill creating a department of institutions, and was based on that portion of the bill that demoted the boards of trustees at the various state institutions to a purely advisory capacity, taking from them the appointment of institution heads and other powers they now possessed.

Frank L. Coombs of Napa, who said he had watched the workings of the present system of the Napa asylum and elsewhere for many years, said the boards should be kept, as the system was satisfactory and proven, and gave the human touch necessary for the best interests of defective. He got 20 supporters, 21 votes against the bill, which was the largest number cast in opposition to any of the series.

The debate of the bills lasted less than three hours, and was followed by an effort by Parker to take the power commission bill, that was delayed last night, away from the committee on governmental efficiency and economy. After a half-hour of oratory on that subject the motion to withdraw from committee was defeated 36 to 29 no.

BILLS ARE PASSED

When the assembly reached the dinner hour last night it had passed twenty-eight bills, about one-fourth of the day's work necessary to keep it abreast of its calendar. A committee of 100 bills a day must be finished by noon if adjournment is to be taken Friday, the date set.

Among the measures approved and ordered sent to the governor were those by the following assemblymen:

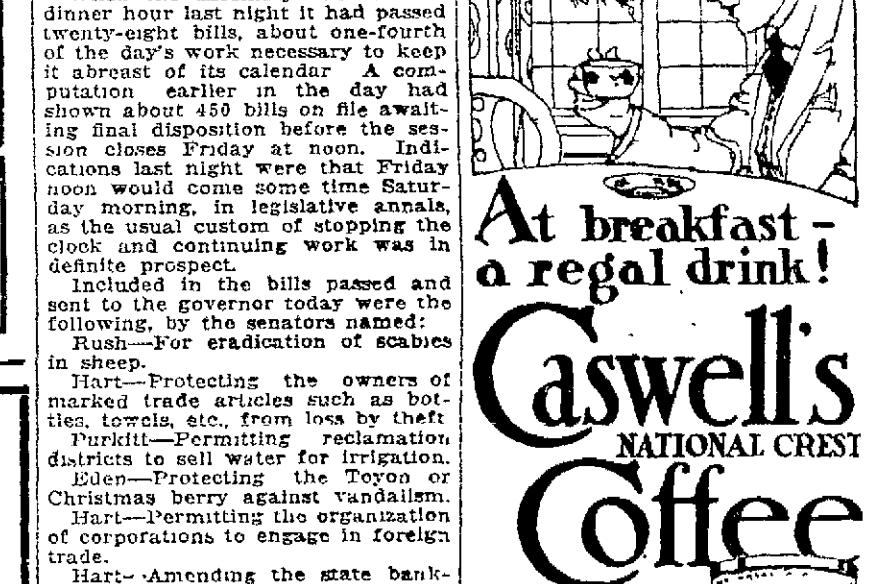

Books—Making armistice day a legal holiday.

Cleveland—Joint resolution calling upon congress to pass legislation for deportation of persons who claimed exemption from military service during the war because they were alien enemies.

McPherson—Creating the Benicia reformatory district.

APPORTIONMENT BILL IN 'FINAL CONCLUSIVE' FLOP

SACRAMENTO, April 27.—Re-apportionment gave what was described in the debate as a "final Assembly," and the bill was broken into two parts. It was temporarily revived when Merriam and White sent to the resolution a "convulsive flop" last night in the session urging an extension of the date for adjournment, in order that the necessary laws to change apportionments to comply with the last Federal census might be passed at the session now in progress.

When the resolution was re-called Speaker Pro Tem Rosenblum was in the chair and he held that it was not, at the moment, in order. Merriam asked that it be taken up when it was in order, and a little later it was brought to the attention of the Assembly, and that body voted whether it wished to consider the resolution. A roll call was taken, and the Assembly declined by a vote of 19 to 19 to consider it on its merits.

When the vote was announced there was a demonstration from San Francisco members who have announced their opposition to re-apportionment at this session.

They threw books and files in the air, stood on their chairs and cheered, and created such a hubbub that business was suspended for five minutes or so.

CHAPTER XII

The President Persists With Article X

The handicaps and difficulties under which I labored are manifest, and the resolution as drafted indicates them in that it does not express as clearly and unequivocally as it would otherwise do the principles which formed the bases of the articles which I handed to the President on January 7, and which have already been quoted in extenso.

The text of the resolution, which was completed on the 22d read as follows:

Resolved, That the Conference make, following declaration, that at the preservation of international peace is the standing policy of civilization and to that end a League of nations should be organized to prevent international wars;

That it is a fundamental principle of peace that all nations are equally entitled to the undisturbed possession of their respective territories, to the full exercise of their respective sovereignties, and to the use of the high seas as the common property of all people;

That it is the duty of all nations to engage by mutual covenants—

(1) To safeguard from invasion the sovereign rights of one another;

(2) To submit to arbitration all justiciable disputes which fall of settlement by diplomatic arrangement;

(3) To submit to investigation by the league of nations all non-justiciable disputes which fall of settlement by diplomatic arrangement;

(4) To abide by the award of an arbitral tribunal and to respect a report of the league of nations after investigations;

That the nations should agree upon

(1) A plan for general reduction of armaments on land and sea;

(2) A plan for the restriction of enforced military service and the governmental regulation and control of manufacture and sale of munitions of war;

(3) Full publicity of all treaties and international agreements;

(4) The equal application to all other nations of commercial and trade regulations and restrictions imposed by any nation; and one of us had known a years and were going fast we were almost be up. I had stomach my wife was in even more than I was because stomach trouble and too. She was almost a nervous wreck; why, actually she was so nervous she was afraid to stay in the house alone. She went to Los Angeles on a visit hoping the change would do her good, but she got no better. She had inflammatory rheumatism so bad she was in constant pain, and her hands and feet were badly swollen. I prevailed on her to take Tanlac, as it had done me so much good. Just as I expected, she was soon like a different person, and today she is in perfect health—looking better and younger than I have seen her since you left."

"In my own case, Tanlac was just as wonderful, for it gave me an appetite, put my stomach in first-class condition and made me gain twenty pounds. I wouldn't take all the gold in California for the health and happiness Tanlac has brought us."

What's Happening in the Motor World

by Jim Houlahan

In a wire from C. M. Staves, assistant to R. C. Durant, which came from New York this morning, it is some very interesting news about Durant's new car.

"True to R. C. Durant's promise, it is a real automobile," the message states. "It took all hills easily and showed a speed ranging from four to sixty-two miles an hour in high, with stock gears, over the old Vandenberg course on Long Island sound. Sample cars for California dealers will be ready August 1."

Staves' wire goes on to say that R. C. Durant will be back in Oakland on May 3 and that a selection of a Pacific Coast site in either Oakland or Los Angeles will be made by Durant.

Southern California boosters, with their characteristic energy, have been making a determined fight to secure the Durant institution for Los Angeles, and, as is now known, have won Staves over to their cause.

It is thought that the first Durant car will be shipped west by express in a short time and that it will be exhibited in Oakland within the next month.

Those who have seen it, men like A. L. (Globe Trotter) Warmington, say that automotive critics will pass frank and favorable judgment the moment they see the neat lines of the new "less than a thousand dollar" sensation.

FRIEDL WILL OBSERVE RACE

Ralph Friedl, prominent in local motoring circles, and former racing mechanic, will return to the Bronx next Saturday, and upon his return will, through THE TRIBUNE automotive columns, give his impressions of the inside details of the big Raistin Day contest. Ralph knows all of the drivers intimately and he views the speed events from one of the pits. The gossip among the mechanics and drivers he gets first hand and no race ends which Friedl attends that doesn't afford him some new angle that never comes to the public.

The little rivalries that exist among the different drivers of teams like the Deusenberg camp boast of are known to Friedl.

HEAVY TOURIST TRAVELED

Travel over the National Park-to-Park highway promises to be unusually heavy this summer, but not sufficiently great to satisfy its promoters, and when the annual convention of the association is held in Salt Lake City, June 16 and 17, suggestions will be offered for the expansion of the highway's drawing powers to attract tourists.

One of these proposals calls for the expenditure of $100,000 for advertising and publicity purposes, including the publication of road guides and maps on a greater scale than the present limited funds have made possible and in which this community has a direct business interest.

The convention call, sent out from the Denver offices of Gus Holm, executive secretary of the National Park-to-Park Highway Association, asks that community interests be represented in the delegation sent from here. He requests that the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, in making up the delegation, first confer with the automobile clubs, good roads associations, as well as state, county and city organizations, and urges that the delegates be "instructed to make the careful selection of a state director to serve during the coming year."

GOVERNORS PROMISE AID

Governors of the eleven states directly interested, senators and representatives in Congress, as well as officers of transcontinental railroads, have given assurance of their presence, if possible, to learn firsthand about the growing demand for the 100-mile highway linking the twelve national parks.

The American Automobile Association, National Highways Association, National Park Service and the Forest Service—all will have representatives at the meeting, which, in the estimation of road promoters generally, holds a special significance for the rapid development of a greater road tourist business throughout the entire West.

Mass Will Be Held

For Everett C. Thomas

Everett C. Thomas, well known resident of Oakland, passed away yesterday morning. He was the son of Coupland Thomas and is survived by the following brothers: Leonard, Gilbert, George, and sister Marion. High mass to his memory will be held Friday morning at St. Joseph's church in San Francisco.

SCHOOL LOCKERS ROBBED

For the third time within a month the rooms in the manual training school in the city have been broken into and entered by burglars. Each time a large quantity of carpenters' tools have been stolen. The value of tools taken by thieves in all amounts to several hundred dollars. Entrance was gained each time by forcing a side window.

AUTOISTS FLEE AFTER INJURING THREE IN S. F.

Victims Left in Streets and Rescued By Other Drivers.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—Reckless automobile drivers who failed to stop and render assistance were responsible for the injury of three persons in two automobile accidents last night and early today. Those hurt were:

DAVID NORDSTROM, Metropolitan hotel; fractured left leg.

MRS. HAZEL ROBINSON, 1469 Sacramento street; bruised hip, shock.

ALBERT MYLER, 1315 Polk street; shaken up.

At 1:45 a.m. Myler was hit by a machine at 1315 Polk street. The driver sped on and left him in the middle of the pavement, where other autoists rescued him. He was treated at the Central Emergency hospital.

Myler and Mrs. Robinson were crossing Van Ness avenue, between Jackson and Pacific streets, when a car, turning in the middle of the block, bowled them over. The machine contained two young men, who escaped unharmed.

SOLOELLE

The Tone-Coloring Solo Player Piano

"I was a skeptic. The Soloelle surprised me beyond words to express and convinced me that at last a mechanism has been perfected which mirrors the musical moods of its operator. The wonder of the Soloelle lies in separate controls for melody and accompaniment, permitting treatment of the tone-coloring of melody and accompaniment individually. This is entirely new and places the Soloelle firmly upon the artistic plane."

Giorgio Polacco

The Soloelle supplies you with the technique, that could not otherwise be obtained without years of training and practice. The Soloelle gives you, yourself, the mastery of tone—the mastery of interpretation, even if you have no knowledge of the keyboard. The Soloelle is vastly different from every other player piano—the difference is so great that you can both see and hear that difference. It will be a pleasure to show and explain to you the wonders of the Soloelle in our studios.

Hear and play the Soloelle before you buy any Player Piano.

IF YOU HAVE RHEUMATISM

CUT THIS OUT

75c Box Free to Any Sufferer

Up on Syracuse, N. Y., a treatment for rheumatism has been found that hundreds of users say "brings splendid results." Many instances are reported where only a few days treatment by a doctor or the use of the medicine has relieved the patient completely where everything else had failed.

It helps to drive off the poisonous clogging waste matter from the system by action on the bowels and by stimulating the flow of bile, which promotes regular and effective bowel evacuation, and seems to neutralize the Uric Acid and some Salts, poisons which cause blood and irritation to the kidneys. Soreness, pain, stiffness and swelling just seem to melt away and vanish.

The treatment first introduced by Mr. Delano is so good that its owner wants everybody who suffers from rheumatism or has a friend so afflicted, to get a free package just to try it. Call him up before a remedy is spent. Mr. Delano says, "To relieve rheumatism, no matter how severe, stubborn or long standing the case may be, even after treatment has failed, will. If you have never previously used the treatment, send you a full size 75c package. If it will cut out this notice and send it to me, I will send you one. You wish you may send us 10 cents in stamps to help pay postage and distribution. Address: H. DELANO, 1277 V. Clinton Square Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y. I can only send one package to an address."

A Man is just as Young and Strong as his Blood

No man can fight the battles of life and hold his own if his blood is not pure, for rich, red blood is what strength is based upon. When you see a strong, vigorous man, who never knows when he is licked, you may wager that such a man has coursing through his veins rich, red blood. Many people have thin, pale blood. They are weak, tire easily, become discouraged quickly, and sometimes feel like giving up the struggle. Such folks need Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is sold by druggists in liquid or tablet form.

It is made up of Blood root, Oregon Grape root, Queen's root, St. John's root, Cherry Bark, without alcohol. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial package of the tablets.

OLYMPIA, WASH.—"My husband always uses Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as a stomach medicine and tonic, and declares that it is the best medicine in the world."—Mrs. J. E. FOSTER, Cor. Pear and Spring Streets.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMENRockridge Club to Have New Officers

By EDNA B. KINARD.

There has been a movement among presidents of local clubs to put aside their official robes this year. The rule applies to the Oakland and Rockridge clubs, Franklin Boulevard and other clubs. Now comes the announcement that Mrs. C. R. Nelson will not again preside over the destinies of Rockridge Woman's Club, but will give way to Mrs. Katherine F. Goodfellow, who has served with her as first vice-president. Other candidates whose names are proposed for office are:

Vice-presidents, Mrs. F. H. Born, Mrs. G. P. L'Hommadiere, recording secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, Virginia Smith, Elizabeth Alard, Marion Alard, Julia Bennett, Betty Angus and Elizabeth Bliss.

The betrothal was made known to the guests through the medium of cards presented by two small nieces of the bride-elect, the Misses Marion and Jane Goodfellow, who stood at the entrance of the hall.

The dining rooms were artistic in their decoration of spring bloom and potted ferns and greenery.

The romance is one which dates from the earliest school days of the couple.

Miss Goodfellow attended both Miss Head's and Miss Ransom's schools for girls in the East Bay section.

A luncheon will mark the annual meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. John Easton Porter of Watsonville are receiving the congratulations of friends following the announcement of the arrival of a little daughter in their home last Friday. The little one will be christened Mary Jane Porter and is the only granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Porter of Berkeley. Mrs. Porter was Miss Ruth Ramona Walters before her marriage.

INTERSCHOLASTIC TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The Interscholastic Tennis tournament, which draws to the Claremont Country Club each year some three hundred or more of the sub-debutantes set from private schools in the northern district, is to be held May 6 and 7. The finals to be played upon the latter date. A feature of the day will be a children's tennis clinic with the best rooks of the club house. Schools to be represented are Miss Head's, Miss Norton's, Miss Ransom's, Burkes, Castilleja, Palo Alto High and several others.

A special meeting of the branches of the Baby Hospital Association will be held the afternoon of May 3 at 2 o'clock at the Hotel Oakland when plans for the October bazaar will be discussed. October 7 and 8 are the dates for the bazaar. Later in the afternoon several informal tea parties will be arranged at the hotel. Linden branch of the association will meet that morning and following a basket luncheon will join other branches at the hotel.

Mrs. Walter Leimert will be hostess at luncheon May 4 at her home in Piedmont, the affair to be informal.

CARDS ARE OUT FOR TEA

CAMPUS ROMANCE IS SHATTERED

IRISH SOCIETIES PLAN FESTIVAL

A romance which had the University of California as its setting and two of its brilliant graduates as the principals in the love cast, has been shattered, according to the announcement that the betrothal of Miss Sarah Unna and Rabbi Louis Newman is ended. The news comes from New York where the former Fresno man is associate rabbi of Temple Israel. Miss Unna and her father, Harry Unna, who have been in New York on an extended visit, are en route to their home in San Francisco. No reason has been given by the couple for the sudden termination of their engagement.

When Newman was a graduate student and Miss Unna was a freshman, they met on the university campus. A romantic courtship culminated in the announcement of the betrothal in February, followed by the wedding planned for the summer with Rabbi Martin A. Meyer, friend of Newman, promising to officiate.

Miss Unna took honors in philosophy when she graduated in 1919. She was the musical composer for the Masque of Womanhood and is credited with much of the text of the play of that year. She is the author of a number of articles published in the Journal of Philosophy and Contemporary Verse. Miss Unna did graduate work in Columbia.

Rabbi Newman in June will take a high degree from Columbia. He now holds degrees from the University of California and Brown. He is the author of several books on Semitic and Hebrew literature. For president of the Intercollegiate Menorah Association, he has been active in Jewish relief movements.

Rotarians To Elect Officers Tomorrow

The annual election, dinner and ladies' night of the Oakland Rotary club will be held at the ballroom of the Hotel Oakland tomorrow night at 6 o'clock. A president, vice-president and four directors will be chosen by the Rotarians at the meeting. The dinner and social affair, which will follow, will replace the regular noon weekly luncheon of this week.

TIME TO FACE THE FACTS

"So much has been said against the use of patent medicines that I have had a strong prejudice against them. But after four years doctoring with six different doctors, without results, for acute indigestion, gastritis, constipation, appendicitis and other ailments, I was said to possess a secret formula to try May's Wonderful Remedy, which did what it had done for a friend similarly afflicted. I also was entirely relieved of my trouble, and am sure this medicine will do all and more than is claimed for it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convalesce or money refunded. At all druggists.—Advertisement.

Five Hundred Guests at Brilliant Tea

Five hundred guests at the Claremont Country Club were invited to the afternoon tea of the betrothal of Miss Alice Goodfellow, daughter of the late William Scott Goodfellow and Mrs. Goodfellow of this city and Donald Rhem, son of the late William S. Rhem, president of Standard Oil Company of California and Mrs. Rhem of this city.

Hostesses of this afternoon were Mrs. Hugh Goodfellow of Berkeley, Mrs. William Scott Goodfellow, and Miss Alice Goodfellow, who were assisted by intimate friends and a committee of the younger girls in receiving.

Among these were Mrs. Asa L. White, Mrs. James de Fremery, Mrs. W. S. Rhem and the Misses Laura Miller, Virginia Smith, Elizabeth Alard, Marion Alard, Julia Bennett, Betty Angus and Elizabeth Bliss.

A get-together luncheon will be held at the Hotel Oakland on Monday, May 2, to devise ways and means of raising the remainder of the $18,000 needed by the Salvation Army to meet the deficit in the building fund of the new rescue and recreation home. SOUTHERNERS WANT TARIFF.

It was a curious scene before the Ways and Means committee of the House when representatives of the Southern Tariff Association appeared to plead for the enactment of a protective tariff law. This organization represents over sixty trade associations of the Southern States and in the name of these a memorial was submitted purporting to show that the mineral, agricultural and manufacturing industries of the South are in the "throes of an economic disaster of unparalleled intensity."

Curious indeed that the South, which has always sent free trade Democrats to Congress, should appear alleging that it is facing economic collapse and praying for the effective protection which a tariff schedule will offer. At last there seems to be realization of the fallacious quality of the free trade bokum which Democratic politicians have used to ease their way into office for the last seventy years.

The business men, industry operators and agriculturists of the Southern States are like the men of other sections wholesomely practicable when they are facing hard times and election is four years away. They are learning a useful lesson now. It is likely that they will not soon forget it that by 1924 the beneficent effects of adequate protection for American industry will have become known to them and that they will not again raise the desire for office-holding above the urgency of business prosperity. The present lesson of the evils of abandonment of material home interests for the benefit of a political doctrine has been used to ease their way into office for the last seven years.

When these gentlemen who are directly affected by suspended animation in business realize their error they will doubtless pass the information on to the workers who depend upon their wages for a livelihood. The workers in turn will comprehend the fact that idle factories, rotting crops and stored wool and cotton means disaster for them.

Evidence is accumulating that the protective tariff issue is not apt again to become a national political issue. It appears probable that the tariff will be taken out of politics for good and taken out after being soundly established under the protective theory as a fundamental article of our national policy.

IMMIGRATION UP AGAIN.

Congress is again considering, under a speed-up order, a bill to restrict immigration. It is very similar to the bill which was passed by the last Congress but killed by President Wilson's veto. One or two amendments have been attached, notably that of Senator Jones of Washington providing that no immigrant shall be admitted to this country unless he shall have come to its shores in a ship flying the American flag. But essentially the measure is unaltered, and these amendments may be approved or rejected without affecting the fundamental provisions. The bill provides for a limit upon the admission of aliens for fourteen months to a number equivalent to three percent of each nationality of foreigners already in the country at the time of taking the federal census of 1910.

A new interest, however, has been added to the reconsideration of the immigration measure by the rather vigorous request of the Department of State for such restriction on immigration as is proposed, especially with regard to what is described as undesirable classes from the Balkan states, Georgia, Russia and Armenia. As to the peoples of these countries, Secretary Hughes writes that "our restriction on immigration should be so rigid that it would be impossible for most of these peoples to enter the United States." These peoples, he says, have been huddled around from pillar to post so long without employment or means of subsistence except charity that they are undesirable as citizens of any country.

At first sight this view seems to be rather hard-boiled and shockingly different from that which has so long been maintained by this government. In former years the immigration policy of the United States would have led these European unfortunate to consider this country as a hope and a haven.

But times have changed. It is necessary that aliens admitted for residence and probable citizenship should be fit for citizenship and able to avoid becoming a public charge upon the communities they might enter. Prevention of disease, avoidance of criminal agitators for revolution against the government and of incompetents require for the federal authorities effectual power to prevent the entrance of undesirables into the country.

Congress should enact the necessary legislation to sustain the government's protecting arm. And those unfortunate drifters among the population of Europe can be better cared for in their native land than by permitting them to come to this country.

WITHOUT CONFIDENCE.

Lord Bryce, former British Ambassador to the United States, in his profound two-volume work on "Modern Democracy," reaches, among other conclusions, this judgment regarding State legislatures:

"State legislatures do not enjoy the confidence of the people, as is shown by the restrictions imposed upon them, and by the transfer, in many States, of some of their powers to the citizens acting directly. Congress maintains a higher level, yet one below that to be expected in a nation proud of its institutions as a whole."

This asserts a fact but it does not explain the reason for the existing state of lack of confidence on the part of the people in their representatives in the legislative body. The legislators themselves might very profitably attempt to discover the reasons for this lamentable condition. If they made the effort they would speedily come to the conclusion, if they were honest, that the first reason is that they do not deserve the public's confidence. And they do not deserve better of the public because they display, speaking by and large, no capacity for independent judgment and independent action.

The great tragedy of the legislature at Sacramento during the present session has been the almost total absence of any original constructive proposal of government from the members. The dominating and controlling influences have been the political strategists of the State government on the one side and the lobbyist of special interest on the other.

Almost without exception, the legislator has had his work laid out for him by others. He has been pulled one way by the Governor's political whips, and the other way by the agents of self-seeking interests and classes. We shall not say that all these special interests and their influences upon the legislature have been wrong in purpose or deed, but they have revealed the legislature as barren of independence and original judgment, as unmindful of the interest of the people, because the people as yet have no device by which they can get it by the buttonhole and whisper into its ear.

There ought to be a reform. No one can tell now how it can be brought about. The outlook is not bright. But surely a condition such as has again been revealed at Sacramento and every other State capitol cannot go on forever.

Some persons go a long ways to adopt tortuous courses in order to give offense. For example, a piece of timber reputed to be from the Mayflower has arrived in Seattle from England in a chest alleged to have belonged to an old-time pirate. Here is someone trying to make it appear that there were pirates and freebooters among the Pilgrims and Puritans, claimed by so large an element of Americans as ancestors.

The Sacramento legislature has passed an act abolishing the secret divorce file in California. This is a good piece of legislation. While it will not prevent divorces entirely it will deter a few persons from seeking separation for frivolous reasons, if those reasons are available as public information. There are many persons who avoid, if possible, appearing in a wholly ridiculous role.

DISAPPOINTED MONARCHISTS.

So far as the ceremonies which took place in Potsdam on Tuesday had at their end only the burial with Christian rites of Auguste Victoria Hohenzollern, they call for no comment. The funeral took place, and a woman who seems to have gone through life without incurring the displeasure of any one was duly buried in the family lot. But the greater and more ambitious purpose of the ceremonies was frustrated. As a monarchist demonstration the funeral was a failure.

There was the expected appearance in force of former Kings, Grand Dukes and Princes, with William of Wied and Alvaro furnishing the comic relief: of marshals and generals and admirals. Six thousand officers in the uniform of the old army formed a guard of honor. To the number of twenty or thirty thousand, exiled and unreconstructed monarchists stood up to be counted. But the government, with unexpected firmness, refused to grant an official holiday: the enormous crowds that went out to Potsdam seem to have been inspired mainly by the desire to see a great sight, and whatever may have been said at the private dinner for members of the family and great eminences of the old empire which followed the ceremonies Dr. Dihyander's funeral address was tame enough.

There was, to be sure, a great popular demonstration for Hindenburg. That was to be expected. There are always demonstrations for Hindenburg, and they spring from the same state of mind, and have about as much importance as demonstrations for William Jennings Bryan. What is of more consequence is that there was no demonstration for Ludendorff. Recent events in Germany suggest that the old die-hard monarchists are really not so numerous and influential as the government's evident fear of them would indicate.

Certainly they are not so influential, just at this time, as the industrial lords of the old regime who are now supporting Stinnes. Whether Germany has really gained much in exchanging a Hohenzollern for a Stinnes is something that only time can tell; under either, Germany can hardly be regarded as a safe neighborhood—New York Times.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Discussion anent an extra legislative session is rampant. It is represented that this will be necessary to redistrict the state. It is a fact that redistricting has not been accomplished in the regular session, and is not likely to be, but if the governor had made it known that there would be no extra session under any circumstances, would not the chances of redistricting during the regular session have been improved?

It may be the part of wisdom to permit Haywood to remain with the Bolsheviks and enjoy himself where his theories are flowering, but somebody here would seem to have been remiss in so completely losing track of the arch Bolshevik that he could get out of the country so readily.

The statement that brewers have applied for permission to manufacture "medicinal beer" brings the matter forward in another light. Medicinal beer is a new remedy, but the new diseases that are springing up require different antidotes, tonics and easements. It is a progressive age.

The great majority who are nonplussed by Professor Einstein's theory of the relativity of matter, but hesitate to admit it through a fear that such an admission will be taken for ignorance, may now buck up. Not only have Senators Penrose and John Sharp Williams confessed their inability to "get" the professor, but President Harding admits his obfuscation.

The confirmation by a vote of 52 to 3 of Representative Esch of Wisconsin as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, notwithstanding the strenuous opposition of Senator LaFollette, ought to go some distance to show the recalcitrant Senator where he stands in the senatorial body. The other two negative votes were those of two Southern Democrats.

That postal employees are to carry revolvers is a reasonable precaution against bandits, who have a habit of learning where valuables may be located in transit; but some system may be necessary to enable the effective use of the weapons. The Kansas City Star observes that ten days in a jail cell, sumptuously furnished, with luxuries on the side, may be all right for movie speeders on first convictions, but for second offenses the prisoners should have their furniture and tobacco privileges cut down. Sounded like the Debe Daniels case at first, but further along it would seem that the allusion was to some coarse male delinquent.

Simon Bolivar has his monument all erected and dedicated, but the New York Herald rises to ask, What about Patsy?

Dr. Einstein is defended by the statement that he makes a better show explaining his relativity theory than any writer on the game of chess can make in telling a novice why Lasker won or Capablanca lost.

INTERNATIONAL MEDDLERS
Of course it is all rather exasperating to have our populace churred up by the agitations and blatherskites of foreign pests.

It seems not, but lest we forget, America has been from time to time exporting some internationalists of its own who have specialized in telling other countries how to manage their own affairs and settle their own rows. There, for example, was Mr. Pusseyfoot Johnson, who made such a nuisance of himself in Great Britain. And now also comes William J. Bryan, who demands a protest against the sale of liquor in the British Bahamas, and in all seriousness says the continuance of such sale should be regarded by this nation as an "unfriendly act." Should he succeed in compelling the Bahamians to go bone dry because of our Eighteenth Amendment, Mr. Bryan no doubt will proceed against the wet sections of the Dominion of Canada, not to mention Cuba and Mexico. In fine, we have bred so many international meddlers of our own in other nations' business that it makes our position a little precarious when we raise against these foreign meddlers in our business.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

What Baby Really Needs To Live and Grow Up Strong

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

What proper feeding and care will do for the baby is shown by the remarkable improvement in the statistics relating to infant deaths. Going back 30 years to 1891, the death rate among infants under one year of age in New York City was 241 out of every thousand. This is 11. Out of every thousand babies born almost one in four died before reaching 12 months of age!

That was before pasteurization of milk was practised. That was before folks had learned how carefully child life must be guarded.

See what 30 years have accomplished.

Last year in New York City, only 35 died.

The measure of efficiency of health agencies and doctors and nurses is their ability to protect the babies against disease and disaster.

The housing problem is another factor of importance. The infant is most susceptible to the circumstances of his environment. He must have fresh air, sunlight and breathing space. Overcrowding, gloomy surroundings and vile air are fatal to the infant, and, for that matter, to the adult.

There is much good yet to be accomplished for the new-born child. Increasing knowledge of food values and the requirements of the baby will improve his chances of life. But greater care of the expectant mother will improve the health of many babies. When this care is universally exercised, better and stronger infants will be the rule and the death rate will be correspondingly decreased.

Many a young mother is distressed because her baby does not take quite so much food, or because he takes more food than some one else's baby.

The baby himself is the test of whether or not his particular food and feeding are just right. The contented, satisfied, rosy, good-natured, cooing infant is evidence enough of the quality and quantity of the food. His gradually increasing weight, his quiet sleep, and his clear skin are additional proof of his "perfect health."

Colic, frequent demands for food, loss of weight, frequent crying without apparent cause, and unhealthy appearance of the skin are symptoms of wrong food or wrong feeding. For the breast-fed child these symptoms do not prove there is anything fundamentally wrong with the baby; the whole trouble may be with the mother. Her health may be impaired.

OAKLAND LEGION PLANS TO PLACE MEN IN JOBS

Five Hundred Veterans Idle Today; Employers Asked To Cooperate.

Every ex-service man in the East Bay district and particularly in Oakland, who is out of employment will be given a job if a plan approved last night by the executive committee of Oakland Post No. 5 of the American Legion is successful. The success of the plan, it was announced, depends upon the co-operation of the employers with the employment director, Bernard Marvin, who was named last night a civil engineer and a member of the Oakland post, who has volunteered to devote at least a month to the campaign.

The plan is to visit every employer on this side of the bay and secure their co-operation. Anyone needing men will communicate with the employment director at the post's clubrooms, where an index will be kept of those seeking employment. Not all the men are anticipated to make application for the jobs offered in the King building at Twelfth and Harrison streets, but all ex-service men, regardless of their affiliations.

500 ARE JOBLESS

The plan to start such a campaign was approved after a careful investigation by the executive committee of the post to determine the employment situation. It was reported last night that at least 500 ex-service men, some of them wounded, who have been discharged to shift for themselves, are walking the streets of Oakland looking for jobs.

Some of these men, it was pointed out, have but recently been released from hospitals, and have not as yet had a chance to get started again. They are men for the most part who left their positions more than four years ago to join the colors, and who have since been among those dismissed at roll call. Often men had gone over the top. And there are those who are out of employment due to the cutting down of forces at several of the plants.

"We are particularly anxious to place any ex-service man who is out of employment," said Marvin today.

"I am going to make a consolidation of the places in Oakland where men are employed from time to time. But I can not reach all of the places, and if those people who will be able from time to time to employ a man or so, will communicate with me, I can furnish them with mechanics, common laborers, painters, paperhangers, bookkeepers, carpenters and steel engineers."

100 WOMEN FIND JOBS

There are now in Oakland, according to figures given out by Marvin, more than 200 ex-service men who were wounded in the war. Only about half that number at the present time have employment. There are more than 400 others known to be out of work. One man, for example, who turned home from France more than a year ago, has had seventeen different jobs, none of them lasting for more than a week or ten days at a time. He made good on each of the jobs, but they didn't last long enough. The work gave out each time and he had to seek new employment.

It is the aim of Oakland Post No. 5 of the American Legion to secure as many permanent positions for the ex-service men as possible. Any one who may have such a position to offer, or if he should have only a temporary position open, has been requested to communicate with the employment director — telephone Oakland 7331.

FUGITIVE LEADS POLICE CHASE OF 2 CITY BLOCKS

Man Accused of Attempting Daylight Robbery in Broadway Store.

Headed by Patrolman P. J. Hedigan, a dozen officers today chased James Williams, colored, two blocks along Broadway, Seventh and Franklin streets, and finally placed him under arrest in a rooming house for attempting to commit a daylight robbery at the store of G. Curtasso, 731 Broadway.

According to police report, Williams entered Curtasso's furnishings store and asked to see a silk shirt. Curtasso displayed them on the counter, he says.

"Now I want the money in the cash register," Williams is reported to have said. When Curtasso struck him in the face, telling him, Curtasso told police.

Just then several customers entered the store and Williams became frightened, running with his customer and Curtasso in pursuit. They chased him for two blocks over to a rooming house at 710 Franklin st., where he was found hiding in a bathroom.

He was placed under arrest by Patrolman Hedigan, who joined the chase at Seventh and Broadway, and taken to the city jail. Curtasso says he will swear out a warrant charging attempted burglary.

Drunk's Bad Memory Brings Double Fine

It's bad policy to tell a police judge that you were drunk in your life and later tell him that you have been arrested five times for being drunk. That is what John Linbeck told Police Judge Ralph V. Richmond this morning and the judge doubled his sentence. He was given the choice of spending five days in the city prison or paying a fine of $10.

He was arrested last Friday night at Thirteenth and Broadway by Officer E. G. Tidmarsh. When the judge asked him if he had been arrested before and Tidmarsh answered yes, he said his record looked up by the court clerk. It showed that he had been found guilty and given the usual fine of $5 or three days in jail. Judge Richmond told him if he was arrested again he would be given a longer term.

PERIODIC COMET TRAVELS FAST TOWARD EARTH

Will Be Within "Speaking Distance" of 12,000,000 Miles On June 7.

BERKELEY, April 27.—Traveling rapidly to within "speaking distance" of the earth is Pons-Winnecke's comet, a periodic comet which completes its journey about the sun at intervals of about six years.

Professor R. T. Crawford and Miss S. H. Levy of the department of astronomy at the university, made the announcement today that the comet, which is now 37,000,000 miles from the earth, gradually approaches the planet, and will be within distance of 93,000,000 miles separating the earth from the sun.

The relative closeness of the two bodies jaunting through space is emphasized when compared with the distance of 93,000,000 miles separating the earth from the sun.

This comet was picked up on its present return after an absence since 1916 by Professor Crawford of the University Observatory in Wisconsin April 10, gave a statement released by Director A. O. Leuschner of the Students' Observatory of the State university.

WILL KEEP PACE.

Leuschner states: "From the middle of May until the middle of June there is not much variation in the distance of the comet from the earth. They will seemingly keep pace with each other, the earth being from 12 to 20 million miles behind the comet. On the 27th of June the earth will be at a place where the comet will have crossed the ecliptic seven days before, so that if there is meteoric material in the wake of the comet, we may expect to encounter it and witness a meteoric shower about that date."

The comet is now about the twelfth magnitude but is becoming brighter. At maximum brilliancy, June 10, it will be about seventeen times brighter than at present, which will make it between the eighth and ninth magnitude, still too faint to be seen without telescopic aid.

The above data has been deduced from a preliminary computation based upon a seven-day arc. When a longer arc is available and the perturbations due to the action of the earth and sun on the close approach of the earth and the comet are taken into account some modifications of these predictions may be necessary.

HOW IT WAS NAMED.

The comet derives its name from the astronomers Pons and Winnecke, who discovered comet in 1819 and 1855 respectively, which were found to be identical by Winnecke.

"Encke assigned the name of five and one-half hours to the comet discovered by Pons. The comet has returned regularly at constantly increasing intervals, but has not been observed at every return. It was last seen in 1916. In June of that year a meteoric shower was observed from a radiant in the constellation Bootes, which was shown by Denning and Olivier to be connected with the comet. Crampton, an English astronomer, recently pointed out that the conditions for a meteoric shower in connection with the return of the comet promised to be more favorable next June than in 1916, and in the absence of computations of the very considerable perturbations of Jupiter with which the comet is subject during every other revolution, he very closely estimated the conditions of approach to the earth for this year. In place of these estimates the accurate computations by Professor Crawford and Dr. Levy of the University of California are now available, and represent the first more definite predictions of the conditions under which this comet may be observed during its present return.

INCREASES DISTANCE.

It is suspected that this comet is also identical with two other comets, one observed in 1819 and the other in 1766. These identities cannot be definitely established until someone shall have undertaken the calculation of perturbations of the comets to account of the constantly increasing period and distance from the sun, the latter having increased from .75 of the earth's distance from the sun in 1819 to 1.02 during the present return. The comet of 1766 had a distance from the sun of only .4, of the earth's distance from the sun, and if the comet of 1766 is identical with that of Pons and Winnecke as is very probable, the change of distance from .4 to 1.02 is remarkable in comet history."

Dr. Meyer Talks To Berkeley Alliance

BERKELEY, April 27.—A meeting of the Berkeley Alliance of Jewish Women was held on the afternoon of April 19 at the Overseas club, 2025 Durant avenue. Miss Dorothy Talbot rendered several vocal selections, which were followed by a lecture by Dr. Martin Meyer, who spoke on the characteristics of the Jewish race.

On Friday evening, April 22, the Jewish students of the University of California were guests of the Berkeley Alliance at a Passover Seder held at Native Sons' hall. The reception to the students was tendered as a part of the program of the Berkeley Alliance in its drive for new members.

HOW TO RAISE BABY CHICKS

Put Avicel in the drinking water

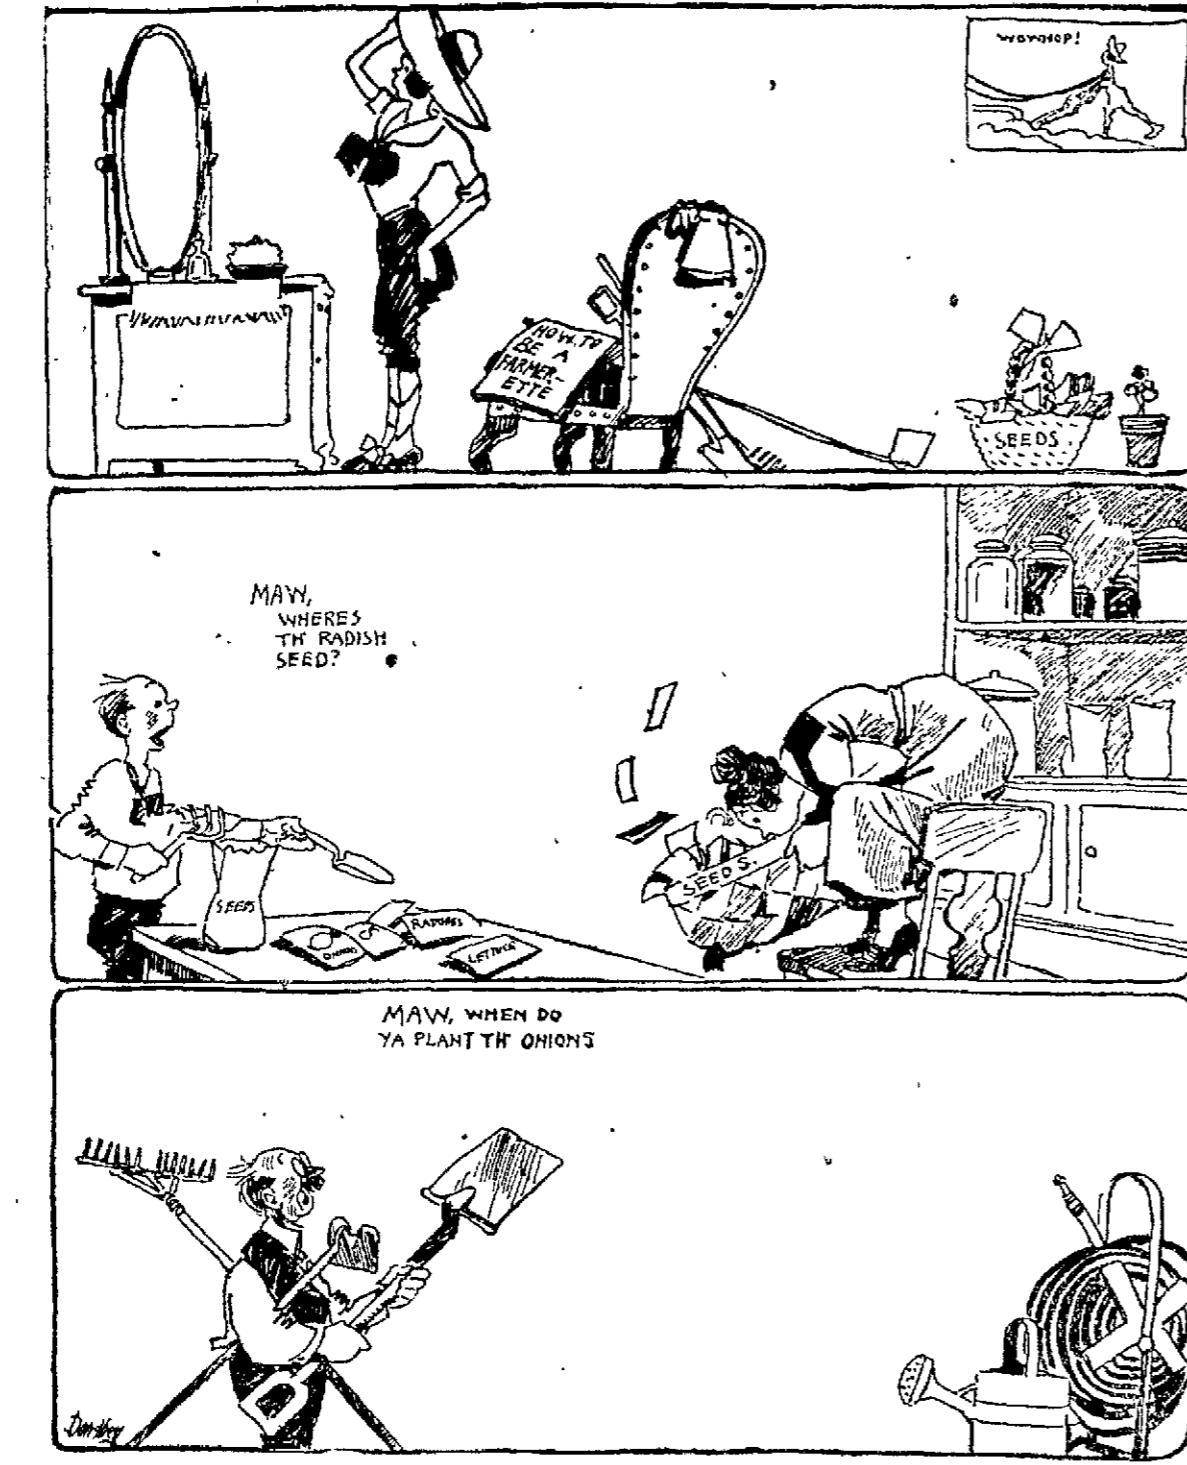

Most people lose half of every batch, and seem to expect it. Chick cholera or white diarrhoea is the trouble. The U. S. Government states that over half the chicks die from this cause.

An Avicel tablet in the drinking water will save your chicks from this trouble. Within 48 hours the sick ones will be lively as cricket.

Mr. Wm. May Rego, of Petaluma, "I raised 100 chicks a day from diarrhoea before I received the Avicel. I haven't lost a one since."

It costs nothing to try Avicel. If you find that it prevents and controls white diarrhoea, chick cholera and all bowel diseases of poultry, tell us and your money will be promptly refunded. Avicel is made by Purcell-Dugger Co., 100 Columbia Street—Indicates Ind. Advertis-

BUILDING STOPS PENDING DECISION ON PARK SCHEME

Delay Is Obtained By City Officials While Park Board Considers Problem.

AFTER a half-hour argument, the City Council this morning accepted the pledges of builders that construction on apartment houses would not begin here as the result of a temporary injunction issued by the Alameda Superior Court.

The matter of looking into ways and means for acquiring a park there was referred to the Mayor, who promptly referred it to the Park Board.

The land in question is owned by a half-dozen proprietors. Mrs. Weinmann, who has a plot, has a permit to build. Numerous residents pleaded for a park.

"Folks bought property in the belief that it would be a park," said James M. Koford. "If this building permit is not revoked, the possibility of a park is ended for all time. We cannot suspend action indefinitely; we must act. The contractor is ready to build. If building is halted, we can determine what action can be done in the meantime."

D CATCHER HAMMERS IT DOUBLE IN THE 9TH THAT WINS GAME

and Fielders Play Fine Ball While Lefty Winn Holds the Enemy Safe.

By EDDIE MURPHY

Essick's Vernon Tigers made their first appearance of the at Recreation park yesterday as the guests of the Oakland club, and Manager Bill and his athletes could find nothing about the treatment given them by the tribe of Mitze and "until along about the ninth inning. Bill and his gang that the Oaks were going to let them get away with a win, but the local hopes crossed 'em all up by staging a ninth inning rally that won the game, 5 to 4. Once again Ted showed that he is a mighty handy man to have around to the place of Claude Cooper when left-handers are pitching the Oaks. In the seventh inning Ted got a hit that scored or the Oaks off Slim Love, and then in the ninth inning he put out a two-base drive off Frank Schellenbach that scored Cooper and Denny Wilie and won the old ball game.

"Lefty" Winn, the hustling island southpaw, pitched his win of the season when Ted got that long hit. Winn was by some marvelous fielding, punctuated with a double play and Paul Brubaker at hitting. Pinetti made four at cut off what looked like it, and "Red" Smith was the first to get the fifth whacker dashed back of second and scooped up a ball with hand and tossed "Pig Iron" out for a run for Ray French. French doubled was well on his third at the time.

Winn also had some fast to the plate. Vernon score the fifth inning with the play up. Winn dashed in and his pop of the fly and Han would have made the plate. His dropped safe, was doubled at third.

Gets Rid of First

at first three innings Winn the Tigers in the order they to the plate, while his team -ve him a one-out lead. In the eighth, Brubaker got single second and came home. Back, Miller singled. Ray dashed back of Smith to the plate, down with a hard could not hold it, and Brubaker hit home.

Schaefer, who has given up work so he can play the ball, has put his team to better led to tie the score in the hen with two out of the way ball against the left fielders for two bags and ground out. Then Bill Elliott homered double off the right field walk to Gorman, Hannan's Love's infield out, and Cheung, and the lead was taken on in the fifth and then Winn's in-field pop off High's a double play.

Stars a Little

held the Oaks in check until, when Winn who helped up to win his own game of George gathered a single for after Mitze was out. Winn go on with another single the Oaks. Bill Elliott homered when the Brubaker laid down with the squeeze sign up. Then Cather with his first hit, also crossed the rubber to put the lead in the hands of the Oaks didn't hold the lead a single by Sam Hyatt and by "Red" Smith again put over the top of the eighth Brubaker made a double and then Brubaker a sensational stop back that held French to third.

Hannan was purposely and long time, but now for big ninth inning Oaks. Mitze grounded to Hyd. Koehler, batting for Hyd. Koehler, batting for Hyd. Doraldina Is Given Release By the Oaks

A few years ago when Doraldina, the movie picture star and dancer, was visiting Oakland she signed up with the Oaks. Everybody thought it was a great idea at the time, but when it was decided to make the matter seriously as she has just wired the local club asking for her release. The following telegram was received from Dr. Ewing, President J. Cal Ewing dated Atlanta, Ga.: Will you release me from my contract in order that I may play with the Atlanta team of the Southern League next season? This morning opening game of the season?

President Ewing wired Doraldina her release with his best wishes. This modeling job, following wire was wired from Doraldina:

Atlanta won first game and I am happy because I pitched the first ball. I only wish for my old team and I am very grateful to you for your kind regards. Best wishes to all.

In reply President Ewing wired:

Knew you would deliver. Oaks miss you but your good wishes appreciated.

Holding Husband

by Adele Garrison

How Mrs. Durkee Started Out to Take Care of Madge.

My wish for my mother-in-law's ministrations was not nearly so absurd as it seemed, even considering the fact that her ridiculous and unjust tirade had been the proverbial last straw which had caused my nervous collapse.

No two women can live together as we have done, sharing the common family burdens and the care of a child without coming to depend upon each other in a way neither realize until some emergency arrives. And while my mother-in-law, in her son's parlance, "holds the world's records for altitude flights and perfection of nagging methods," yet when any great emergency appears, she, like many other naggers, rises wonderfully to the occasion. And while the emergency lasts she seems to strip herself as if for a race of all hampering pettiness.

But, of course, I realized that the secret which she and I had just figured precluded all idea of her taking care of me. She had said an almost unpardonable thing to me, although I had a sneaking suspicion that she didn't mean it at all, and I had announced that I would not forgive it. That gulf lay between us, and I knew that it was not one easily bridged.

So I tried to force myself to endure the presence of little Mrs. Durkee, most welcome when she was, but in the jangled, twisted state of my nerves, something almost unbearable. I turned my face to the wall, closed my eyes, and pretended sleep when a rustling at the door proclaimed her coming.

SEARCHING IN VAIN

"Why, isn't this awful!" she exclaimed, as she entered. She came to my side bent over me, and felt my hands and face. "She's cold," she said quickly. "Where's a hot water bag?" she turned on my father practically. "I must put one to her feet at once."

"I'll get one somewhere," my father said determinedly, and I knew that he would accost every passenger in the car in his quest; if necessary I opened my eyes and spoke weakly: "There's—one—in my—bag—but—I don't—need—it."

"Oh, yes, you did," my little neighbor said. "Give me the bag."

My father gave it and handed it to her, and I heard her going rapidly through its contents. I had closed my eyes again from sheer weakness, but I couldn't close my tortured ears.

"It isn't here," she announced impatiently. I was too weak to scream or I think I should have shrieked the direction I gave her.

"It is on—the top—tied—in—a—bathtub!" I had to drag the words out.

"Well, what do you know about that?" she commanded with irritated impatience. "And I upset all those other things! I might have known you'd have everything according to Boyle. I don't need to be a physician to diagnose your case, Madge. You've got the case of ingrown methodicality. There! who says I can't invent a word?"

She laughed merrily, and while in almost any other illness I would have laughed with her and felt cheered by her lovable gaiety, each separate note of her mirth was like a rasp upon a surface already raw.

A REASSURING PROMISE

My father bent over me and took my cold hands in his. I opened my eyes and I suppose there must have been a strained appeal in them, for he bent to me, whispered reassuringly:

"Don't worry. Father'll fix it."

It was the old haunting note of my babyhood days! As if I were the child of that long ago, I gave a little contented sigh and closed my eyes again. I heard him tip-toeing out of the room, then a few moments later a scolding wall from Little Mrs. Durkee in the private wash room adjoining the drawing-room.

"Not a drop of hot water in this faucet! Now what do you know about that for railroad service? How about to fill this hot water bag I'd like to know."

She came back into the room, and impatiently pressed the button for the porter. I shivered as I saw her, for I knew her well enough to be sure that the presiding genius of the car was in for a "twiggery." I dread inexpressibly to listen to it.

He was so long in coming that the little woman waxed mightily indignant.

"I'm just going out to see where that Jackson is," she announced. "Dancing around, I suppose. His back and neck look likely" with the rich, loose, irresponsible which is all her charm. "But I'll dance him."

Now don't move until I come back." As the slightest movement brought on the most deadly faintness her injunction was highly superfluous. I was conscious of only one wish as she closed the door, that she would stay on the other side of it. And when it opened again a few seconds later I kept my eyes obstinately closed. I would give her no excuse for talking.

But it wasn't her voice that I heard.

"Clear out, all of you," said my mother-in-law's voice tartly. "But stay within call. I'll let you know when I need you."

HIS RELIGION

My religion's lovin' God, who made us, one and all,
Who marks, no matter where it be, the humble sparrow's fall;
An' my religion's servin' Him the very best I can
By not despisin' anything He made, especially man!

It's losin' sky an' earth an' sun and birds an' flowers an' trees,
But lovin' human beings more than any one of these.

I ain't no hard at preachin' an' I can't expound the creed,
I fancy every fellow's faith must satisfy his needs;
Or he would hunt for something else. An' I can't tell the why
An' wherefore of the doctrines deep—and what's more I don't try;

I reckon when this life is done and we know His plan,

God won't be hard on anyone who's tried to be a man.

My religion doesn't hinge on some one rite or word,
I hold that any honest prayer a mortal makes is heard;
To love a church is well enough but some get cold with pride
An' quite forget their fellowmen for whom the Saviour died;

An' fancy their best worships God, when all is said an' done.

Who tries to be, from day to day, a friend to everyone.

If God can mark the sparrow's fall, I don't believe He fails
To notice us an' how we act when doubts an' fears assail;
I think He'll hold what's in our hearts above what's in our creeds;
An' judge all our religions here by our recorded deeds;

An' since man is God's greatest work since life on earth began,

He'll get to heaven, I believe, who helps his fellowman.

Cry on Geraldine's Shoulder

Listen, World!

All the little "Prospective Mother" who is here all alone in Oakland, whose sad little tale Jerry printed last week, send in her name and address at once! The most beautiful thing has happened. In answer to that plea, the Women Hearts of Oakland have opened wide. Today on Jerry's desk stands a pile of TREASURE dozens of the most beautiful letters, kind hands have over pinned, letters which send love and comfort to that little girl in a golden flood. Send your address, dear.

No one but you and Jerry will know it—and she loves you so much!

We've discussed the question of Married Women Working from the viewpoint of its effect on married life. But how about its effect on the other workers? Is it fair? That is what the writer of the following letter wants to know. I think it's a good woman to work simply because they're lonesome around the house, although doubtless many of them say that as a reason to protect their pride. Still it is a question, which is constantly growing more aggravated in its tension, whether women should work who are not actually in need of the money. Not only is it a question amongst women, but a most bitterly disputed question amongst men. Let's hear what all the big Pals think of it.

One Viewpoint

Jerry, I am a big as life. Airing my views on married life.

I'm strong for any one working, providing they have to, or are doing some kind of labor, perhaps no one else can do so well, but these married women working because "they would be so lonesome around the house" make me disgusted, not with them so much, but with their spaghetti-back-boarded husbands. They are not the only ones who are to allow themselves to work, just for a selfish reason, a love of money, when there are girls who have, HAVE, to work, and are perhaps doing work they are not fitted for, underpaid because of their inability, and as a last resort, stepping off the chalk line these same married women demand before they will "condescend" to mingle with them.

Uncle Wiggily, I do! launched the bunny, and his "pink" nose twirled so fast that he had to hold his paw over it. "And I'll be home early."

Off through the forest hopped Mr. Longears looking this way and that for an adventure, and almost before he knew it, he was at the hollow stump school. The windows were open for the day was warm, and Uncle Wiggily heard the lady mouse teacher.

"Now, Curly, you will have to go and stand in the corner. I have let you off quite often enough. Go in the corner, and you must stay in after school and write fifty times the words 'I am sorry I was a bad pig!'"

"Oh, ho!" thought Uncle Wiggily to himself, as he entered the hollow stump school. "There is trouble here. I must see, if I can help cure it."

The little pig boy standing in one corner by himself.

said. "By that time it will be too late." I am only going to the hollow stump school," the bunny said. And when he reached there and saw Curly, all ink still standing in the corner, the bunny said to the lady mouse.

"I think we can teach that little piggy boy a better lesson than making him write fifty times about being bad."

"How?" asked Lady Mouse.

"Let him come to my bungalow and have eggs," answered Mr. Longears.

"Curly is a good kind of writing," said Uncle Wiggily, "but he is more useful than stirring his ink well, and this may cure him."

"Try it," said the lady mouse teacher. So Curly was allowed to leave school and go to the hollow stump bungalow with Uncle Wiggily.

"Here is your new egg beater, Nurse Jane," called the bunny, as the bunny said to the lady mouse.

"What has Curly been doing, Lady Mouse, that he must stand in the corner?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"Well, you have a half hour to work, just for a selfish reason, a love of money, when there are girls who have, HAVE, to work, and are perhaps doing work they are not fitted for, underpaid because of their inability, and as a last resort, stepping off the chalk line these same married women demand before they will "condescend" to mingle with them."

"How?" asked Uncle Wiggily kindly.

"Oh—just cause," was all the little piggy boy answered, hanging his head.

"Maybe he thought he was stirring up batter for a cake," said Uncle Wiggily.

"I'm not going to be bad any more and splash my ink," said the piggy chap, as he smelled the cake.

"Right. I'm glad you're cured," Uncle Wiggily said, and he cut a large slice for Curly. "Any other time I'd let him sit up again. That will be more useful than stirring his ink well, and this may cure him."

So this teaches us that even a chocolate cake is good for something.

If the grapevine doesn't climb up the roof and shout down the chimney to scare up pen enough they will come forth, too, and roast me—let 'em come; the weather had been cold in Oakland for quite a while. I'll stand it hot for a time. I'll eat the cake right out of the tin, hat.

Uncle Wiggily was such a good beater that when they were all frothy and foamy, and Nurse Jane made the chocolate cake.

"I'm not going to be bad any more and splash my ink," said the piggy chap, as he smelled the cake.

"Right. I'm glad you're cured."

Letter to Techie, Joe.

DEAR JOE:

I can't say that I was taken by storm by your idea of teaching our six months old child to swim by ducking him in his little bathtub. It's all very well to give him confidence in the water, but there's no necessity of ruining him in the transaction.

But I do believe that every body should know how to swim as soon as possible in order to save himself and others from drowning in deep or sudden water, so I've decided to get some goldfish in an aquarium and keep them where the little angel can see them all the time, thus arousing his little sense of imitation. If he has the backbone he was born with he will naturally resent seeing those dinky little fish doing anything he can't do. It's simply awful about all the scandals in the papers these days, isn't it, Joe?

Such things are the most beautiful letters as bouquets, so it gives you twice as much chance to bring yourself to folks attention.

The most irritating form of Egoism is excessive indulgence in being sensitive. It's bad enough to go around picking up all the bouquets, but it's a lot worse to appropriate all the brick bats and say they were meant for you. There are always twice as many bricks as bouquets, so it gives you twice as much chance to bring yourself to folks attention.

In answer to that, Jerry, is that it's so firm entrenched in the category of change nice people feel. As a matter of fact, "nice" people have no more monopoly on sensitiveness than "un-

PAINT MEN BAND TO PUSH BUSINESS ABOUT EASTBAY

Save Surface Campaign Paves
Way To New Permanent Organization.

Plans to continue, as a permanent organization, the Alameda County Save the Surface Campaign Committee were adopted yesterday at a luncheon meeting of representatives of the paint industry in the Eastbay district.

Resolutions tending to show that the paint industry, as well as the value of cooperation and co-ordination of efforts among various branches were passed. Meetings of the organization are held every Tuesday noon at Pete's Fashion restaurant. According to members of the committee, these meetings are being held to enable representatives of the various branches of the industry in co-operative work.

Present plans for the continuation of the work of the committee call for the election of at least one representative from every paint firm in the Eastbay area to man the permanent organization.

Present officers of the Alameda County Save the Surface campaign committee, continuing as officers of the permanent organization are: General chairman, O. S. Orwick; chairman of the financial committee, J. C. Downey; chairman of advertising committee, David Williamson; general committee, O. S. Orwick, J. C. Downey, David Williamson, M. Friedman, A. W. Scott and Harry MacManus.

The aims of the permanent body will also include the program of the present Save the Surface campaign committee, according to Chairman Orwick.

Delta Camps Better State Officers Find

Edward A. Brown, director of camp sanitation of the commission of Immigration and Housing, reported conditions of the Delta campers in the delta districts of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, show a great improvement over 1920. During the harvest of crops, 6,759 men, women and children were employed—by Orientals mostly—to cut asparagus. The commission made a thorough pre-season investigation of all camps, both seasonal and permanent. A. Sean and M. Edwards, camp inspectors, examined 500 camps. Operators were informed of what was necessary to bring the camps up to legal standard. Within a reasonable time the camps were re-inspected. It was found that most of the camp owners had made the necessary improvements.

To date only one camp, for failure to improve the workers' quarters, has been fined this year in these districts. The operator, a Chinese, employed thirty-five Filipinos, who were housed in a structure 16x24 feet. The Chinese failed to make necessary changes.

Second annual military tournament of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps of the high schools of Oakland is to be held on Friday evening at the municipal auditorium. CADET CORPS OF HIGH SCHOOLS TO GIVE TOURNAMENT

R. O. T. C. Units From Different Organizations To Compete For Trophies.

The second annual military tournament of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps of the Oakland high schools will be held in the Oakland Municipal Auditorium on Friday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. Preceding the tournament there will be a street parade through the downtown business section, with 600 high school boys in uniform in line of march.

The exhibition is given to show the character of work done in the junior units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps as well as to afford an opportunity for the different high school units and the individual members to compete for cups and medals in recognition for excellence in their work.

Companies from Oakland, Technical, Fremont and Vocational High schools will all have detachments competing for the City of Oakland Trophy.

Units from the above named schools will also compete for the Oakland Rotary Club cup.

Technical High School will present the ceremony of formal guard mount while Oakland, Fremont and Vocational High schools will later stage exhibitions in rifle drill, military games and calisthenics exercises.

A gold medal donated by Joseph R. Johnson, a former soldier, and a bronze medal will be presented to the three winners in the individual competition for general excellence in soldierly drill and conduct.

The offering of the medals has caused rivalry and competition is waxing warm.

The exhibition will be without charge and the public is invited to attend. The following is the program for the evening:

1. Review of R. O. T. C. units.

Fremont, Vocational, Technical and Oakland High schools participating.

2. Company competition, City of Oakland cup. Each R. O. T. C. company represented by one section (18 cadets).

3. Formal guard mount. Technical High School unit.

4. School competition. Oakland Rotary Club trophy, each school represented by one platoon (53 cadets).

5. Individual competition. Inspection and drill down. Open to all cadets, except cadet officers.

6. Physical training in R. O. T. C. Rifle drill (Oakland), games (Fremont), calisthenics (Vocational).

7. Escort to the colors.

8. Presentation of prizes. National Anthem and Taps.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a valuable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color 15c and 30c.

Witnesses Tell of Gage's Hunt for "Fillybullues"

"One day George Gage was sitting in the Yosemite and at present in front of a house in San Francisco, holding a shot-gun. I asked him what he was doing. He said he was looking for 'fillybulle' birds. I identified one of George Gage's witnesses this morning in the trial before Judge Trabucco, in which the defendant is attempting to establish his sanity."

When the trial opened the court room was crowded to its capacity by city and county officials, business men and society women packed the room to the exclusion of the usual court room hangers-on.

Mrs. Gage was the first witness called. She stated that Dr. Juan Bol had pronounced her husband insane two years ago. She told of many queer antics of the defendant and then submitted to a cross-examination by her "defendant-husband" which resulted in a speech by him to the effect that he had been sane throughout their life together.

O. R. Fries, formerly head ranger Gage conducts his case with a clearness of memory and in coherent in his questions. Judge Trabucco is obliged to remind him constantly that he is questioning witnesses and not making a speech.

The state's witness Wm. Snook, deputy district attorney, with elaborate courtesy, referring to him as "Young man—you the able attorney." Whenever a contested point is won in his favor he bows to the prosecution, waves his hand grandly and begs them to take cognizance of and beg him to take cognizance of the decision.

Committees on resolutions and on hundreds of Oakland youngsters—boys and girls from six years upwards—have sent in their "Black Beauty" prize contest drawings to the contest editor of The TRIBUNE.

Some of them are fine—particularly some of those sent in by very young folks. Some show originality and some were traced, and so had to be discarded by the contest editor.

Last Sunday, The TRIBUNE printed two of the drawings just to show the boys and girls how to draw the best horse they could now easily it is to get in the contest.

Next Sunday The TRIBUNE will print two more pictures—and when the contest is closed, the winners will be published.

The New Franklin theater will also show the winning drawings on its screen when the contest is finished.

The prizes are worth working for and there is plenty of time in which to act.

So, if you think you can draw a better horse than "the other fellow," find a pencil and paper, and make your sketch.

When it is finished, write your name, address and age on the drawing and mail it, flat, to the contest editor of The TRIBUNE.

Then watch to see whether you are one of the 25 cleverest young artists in the East Bay region.

HARDING AND CHAUFFEUR MET AS BROTHERS

WASHINGTON. April 27.—President Harding responded to an audience of Odd Fellows last night, assembled in celebration of the 102d anniversary of the order, a personal experience as a member of a fraternal organization.

In attending a meeting of the fraternal organization the President related how he had found himself seated by a man who had been in his employ for seven years as a chauffeur.

"It was the finest thing in the world that could have happened," the President continued, "for on that night we met as brothers for the first time, and ever after that he was a better chauffeur and I was a better employer."

Wife Accuses Husband of Threatening to Kill Her

Declaring that her husband tied her and neighbors took her to her home, she says.

On another occasion, she charges, he flew into a rage because she permitted officers to search the basement of their home where he had hidden some lumber. Mrs. Hasley also says that Hasley entertained her frequently with the threat "I'll kill you yet," and that he locked her out of the house where she came home one afternoon in June.

At the time she was preparing her divorce action, Hasley came to her, she alleges, and said,

"I'll give you $500 to sign this agreement. If you won't do it and take me into court, I'll finish you in damn short order."

The plaintiff asks $50 a month alimony and the community prop-

PRANK OF BOYS SERIOUSLY HURTS SCHOOL JANITOR

Because of a joke by school boys, the janitor of one of Oakland's schools is now in a hospital. The school department is investigating.

The episode was at Durant school, where the janitor was asked to move a heavy piano from the rostrum of the auditorium. Getting several husky youths to balance it, he tilted the piano over the edge of the rostrum and got underneath it, pulling it toward him. The young jokers, it is alleged, decided to let go.

Seven little girls were almost under the piano. When they let them bare, the janitor took the whole weight and held the piano till the girls won free. Immediately afterward he collapsed. Principal L. S. Kottinger has reported the matter to the superintendent of schools for action.
